1 Kenneth Wong, Warren College Senator

Hi Council!

I just wanted to give a little bit more information (than I did in a past Oral Report) on the last Senator's Project I'm coordinating. The Warren College Literary Contest received a total of 38 submissions, including 7 essays, 3 op-ed pieces, 1 play, 19 poems, and 8 short stories.

These entries are currently being judged by six Warren College Faculty Members, who will choose a grand prize winner and two honorable mentions. Then, these writers will be presented monetary honorariums, funded by the Warren Provost, at the Warren Leadership and Scholarship Celebration in May.

It was really neat to receive, for example, a poem entry from a Chemical Engineering major. Additionally, I was pleased that the vast majority of entries were pieces that were not just drafted for a class. Warren can really write! :)

2 Emma Sandoe, Biological Sciences Senator

6th Week is BioWeek- get excited. It's kinda like engineering week but only better.
